Honoring

U.S. Representative JERROLD NADLER

Congressman, District 12

Congressman Jerrold Nadler represents New York's 12th Congressional District. Rep. Nadler is a graduate of Crown Heights Yeshiva, Stuyvesant High School, Columbia University and Fordham Law School. He lives on the Upper West Side of Manhattan With his wife, Joyce Miller.

Rep. Nadler began his career in public service in 1976 in the New York State Assembly. Representing the Upper West Side, he served as a Democratic Assemblyman for 16 years and played a significant role in shaping New York State law concerning child support enforcement and domestic abuse, as well as making major contributions to housing, transportation and consumer protection policy in the state. In 1992, Rep. Nadler was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in a special election and has served in Congress ever since. He currently serves on the House Judiciary Committee and the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and is the Dean of the New York Delegation.

As a senior member of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, Rep. Nadler is a leading voice on transportation issues and a fierce advocate of New York's mass transit systems. His efforts have brought billions of dollars of federal funding to New York to improve New York City's roads, ports, railways and transit systems. He has championed the second avenue subway, congestion pricing, and a rail freight tunnel among other major city projects.

During his 50 years in public office, Rep. Nadler has been at the forefront of many of the biggest national issues of the last few decades and his focus and passion have never wavered.
